

That Good Turn.
The one hundred Boy Scouts who collected old clothes for the Welfare League did a "good turn." Eleven Ford sedan loads of clothes, shoes and fruit, were delivered to the Welfare League. Troop No. 6 of the McKinley Junior high school won the fifteen points awarded the troop sending the most scouts to help in this civic service objective. These points will aid Troop No. 6 on its way to winning the Colorado Boy Scout Pottery Pot to be presented Feb. 9 at the Boy Scout anniversary party. The following named scouts won fifteen points for Troop 6: Robert Kribbas, Marvin Kovace, Rich and Blomquist, James Knox, William Lantz, William Henning, Byron Anderson, Jack Rice, Russell Boyson, Dean Toor, John Cherry. Troop No. 10, the newly organized Roosevelt Junior high school troop, made a good showing.

To Give Prize.
A Beaver-cut aspen from near Long's Peak Inn, 9,000 feet above sea level, is to be presented to Linn County troop which has the highest number of points to its credit at the close of the contest Feb. 9. Points may be scored as follows:
Ten points for each second class scout in the troop.
Fifteen points to the troop that sent the most scouts to aid in collecting old clothes, one of the Boy Scout major civic service objectives.
Five points to the troop for each scout attending either or both of the winter camps at the Pallasades.
Twenty five points to the "finest looking" troop present the night of Feb. 9 at the annual anniversary party.
Five points for each accepted piece of handiwork, pen knives, model bridges.
All handiwork must be handed in not later than 6 p. m. Feb. 5 to count.
Fifteen points for each first class scout in the troop.
Ten points for each merit badge awarded in the troop.
Twenty-five points to the troop whose scoutmaster attended all four sessions of the scoutmaster's training course, or "Ten points a session."
Ten points to each troop having one of its members in membership as subscribers to "Boys Life."
One scout asked his scoutmaster, "What is a totem pole?" The scoutmaster replied, "Long ago Indian troops were divided similar to our Boy Scout troops. Each clan had its totem, usually a fish, a bird, or an animal. This totem was a sacred sign to the members of the clan, it would be carved on a tree trunk and stuck up somewhere in the Indian village."
"This totem was looked on with awe and reverence by the natives; it was their protector. It stood for the honor of the tribe and it was guarded and honored at all times. There was usually some sacred tradition connected with the totem pole."
"It depicted something of the clan's history, its life, its habits, its totem."
"This is what the Boy Scout troops of Linn County council are going to do. Each troop is going to make its Totem and the duty of the troop is to preserve the honor of its Totem and to win additional honors for it. The history of the troop from year to year, will be recorded on the Totem pole."

Second Court of Honor.
Twenty-one tenderfoot scouts appeared before the court of honor at the court's first session at the Den Cook building on First avenue for its Scout activity. The court, presided by B. Powell, chairman, Ray Short, H. Smulekoff, J. D. Wardle, John Clinton, five of the members of the court of honor, tested these scouts on the second class work and allowed two to pass.
John Rhodes, Jr. of Franklin Junior high school, No. 6, and Rudolph Hurka of the John Huss church troop, No. 2, were the two scouts who received their second class pins.
Those who failed said they would return and pass without fail at the next session of the court. All scouts wishing to appear before the court of honor (Jan. 15) must have his application at the scout headquarters not later than Jan. 12.
Printed forms are now ready at headquarters for scoutmasters who wish to certify to scouts having taken the preliminary tests. No scout will receive credit at the January court without these blanks properly signed by the scoutmaster or an accredited examiner. No scout will be allowed to certify to another scout's work.

The Winter Cabin.
Boy Scouts of Linn County Council held two all-day camps during Christmas vacation at the Upper Pallasades. If the Scouts had well constructed low cabin they could have had two three-day camps. Such a cabin is being planned now. A camp site has been selected and the cabin will be built as soon as the weather permits. This cabin will be for winter camping only. Summer camp is not being considered at this time.

Troop No. 1.
Troop No. 1 has fallen into some good fortune. Don Cook has given it the entire fourth floor of the Den Cook building on First avenue for its Scout activity. The troop is under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus of this city. L. McMillan is assisted by J. George in the supervision of the troop. J. McMillan is assisted by J. How To Keep The Face Young And Attractive
The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations that have not stood the test of time. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary medicated wax at bedtime, using like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle which is replaced by the moist, youthful pink tinted under skin. One ounce of this wax to be had at any drug store is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn out complexion. Advertisement.

Troop No. 2.
Troop No. 2 of John Huss church, under Scoutmaster Wilson, has been one of the most active troops in the city. This troop sent the largest number of scouts to the first court of honor. Rudolph Hurka succeeded in passing the tests. The troop also stood high in the number of scouts to aid in collecting old clothes for the Welfare League.

Troop No. 3.
J. Chambers Neal, scoutmaster of Troop No. 3 of the Baptist church, sent in four additional enrollment scouts last week, making twenty-two boys registered in his troop. Mr. Neal is one of the oldest scoutmasters in the city from the standpoint of service, having registered as a scoutmaster in 1917.

Troop No. 4.
The Christian church Troop No. 4, under the leadership of Mr. Grooper and assisted by George Short, were presented tenderfoot pins following the first session of the court of honor. Troop No. 4 meets Friday evening at 7 at the Christian church in Third avenue near Tenth street.

Troop No. 5.
Scout John Rhodes was the only one of four scouts from Troop No. 4 to pass the second class test before the court, the other three having asked for a place at the second meeting of the court. J. E. Rhodes is

Troop No. 6.
Troop No. 6 carried away another honor when more of its scouts reported to aid in collecting old clothes than from any other individual troop. D. Hedberg is scoutmaster of Troop 6, with R. V. Green as his assistant. J. D. Wardle, chairman of the troop committee, received the troop charter at the last meeting. Mothers and fathers of the scouts were present. Troop 7 of McKinley High, visited Troop 6 and scout contests were held at the recreation period of the program.

Troop No. 7.
Troop No. 7 is feeling pretty good. Ira Carvillers has consented to serve as assistant scoutmaster. Troop 7 is the largest troop in the city, having the maximum number of scouts allowed its institution. The troop received its charter Monday night.

Troop No. 8.
William Stonsbraker, scoutmaster of Troop 8 has a troop of somewhat older boys as well as the only first class scout in the city. This troop meets at McKinley high school Wednesdays at 7 p. m. Large bag of broken glass and nails were collected from the streets by this troop several weeks ago.

Troop No. 9.

Scouts last week, making twenty-two boys registered in his troop. Mr. Neal is one of the oldest scoutmasters in the city from the standpoint of service, having registered as a scoutmaster in 1917.

Troop No. 10.
This is the baby troop of the scout organization. Final affiliation papers were to be signed this week. John Mitchell, a scoutmaster with six years' experience in scout work in Scotland, will be in charge. Some interesting sessions are in store for the troop. There still is room for six more boys in this troop.

Marion and Scouting.
Three troops have been organized in Marion under the American Legion and the Methodist church. Mr. McElwain, scoutmaster of Troop No. 1 has the edge on the other two troops since he has been doing scout work in Marion for three years. Scoutmaster Buchanan of the Methodist church troop 2 and Scoutmaster Weis of the American Legion Troop 3 are working for new troops.

A chimney fire played a trick on the firemen late yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. J. O'Brien, 1707 First avenue. The department was called at 5:58 p. m. when the chimney burned out, but no blaze developed from the sparks that fell on the roof, and the firemen returned to the station. At 9:02 p. m. another alarm was turned in from the O'Brien home. The shingles on the roof were burning around the chimney when the fire men arrived. The damage was estimated at $5.
