A Memorial Hall.

Thanks to the foresight of the city council, the proposed memorial building will be a city hall as well as a museum. The council has formally decided that the memorial project furnishes an excellent opportunity for the realization of a municipal dream of long standing—the erection of a city hall worthy of the name. And so the coliseum and city hall projects have been combined.

With the new court house completed on the island, the old municipal building, built as a furniture store and warehouse, presents a picture that is anything but pleasing. When the furniture building was purchased years ago it was taken over merely as a makeshift, and it has done its duty well. Should the voters decide to replace it with a memorial hall that provides, in addition to city offices, the coliseum so long and so badly needed here, the island will be a civic center of unusual attractiveness.

Action of the council in combining the coliseum and city hall projects brings out numerous difficulties that confronted the coliseum project. It automatically provides a site on property already owned by the city, and a suitable home for the city's headquarters. For ten years this city has permitted Des Moines to attract thousands of visitors annually who would have come to Cedar Rapids to attend conventions that would have been held here had there been any building sufficient for their entertainment. Cedar Rapids once was the convention city of Iowa. Rarely is a large convention held here now.

And, without a coliseum or auditorium, Cedar Rapids is unable to enjoy any of the many fine attractions that require large quarters. With some of the finest musical organizations in the United States created and maintained by the public school system here, the city has no place in which it can assemble its school orchestras for public concerts. Auditoriums in the junior high schools are inadequate.

Should the voters fail to approve the combined city hall and coliseum idea it will be because they do not realize how far behind Cedar Rapids is in the city value of such buildings as this.

An Iowan Dies.

Herbert Quick had a home in West Virginia, but he was an Iowan through and through. He died yesterday at Columbia, Mo., where he was spending Journalism week at the state university.

A former Iowa newspaper man, Mr. Quick in recent years had given America new and better knowledge of this state with his several books whose plots and characters were drawn from his earlier experiences here. One of them had much to say about a group of Cedar Rapids men who were famous the state over not so many years ago.

And Here, Too.

"Mind-Block Patients Drive Autos," said a headline in one of the Sunday newspapers. The news article over which it was written concerned charges in the Washington, D. C., police court that men at the Walter Reed hospital, suffering of dementia praecox, are permitted to drive automobiles in the capital city.

Washington is no worse than Cedar Rapids. Evidence of crazy driving may be had at almost any time, for example, a beardless youth in a big sedan sped eastward in Third avenue at a speed of no less than fifty miles an hour, and had to dodge a silver whose curb was trying to get away from the curb after having parked on the wrong side of the thoroughfare. The Ford was headed west and was parked at the curb. Drunken driving and reckless driving are so continuous here that a dozen motor cycle policemen could be used to good advantage.

Nice Little Thing!

Here's another death ray, a new and more deadly one. The last one was invented by an Englishman; this one springs from the mind of a German inventor. The American trade commission in Berlin has sent a telegram summarizing the results of the new ray, which is called "heliozauz."

The waves of this ray, so it is claimed, will destroy life for six hours over a radius of forty miles and to an altitude of forty five thousand feet. Airplanes have not yet been able to reach an altitude of forty thousand feet. Thus the new ray would be effective in demoralizing whole armies; it would be able to hold back or incapacitate that most deadly of weapons, the airplane. Nice little thing, this ray!

Expensive Trial.

The murder trial of Gerald Chapman, that dapper criminal whose career attracted so much notoriety and to whose "master intellect" so much tribute recently was paid, cost much more than $16,766.25. Prior to his trial Chapman probably had cost society several hundred thousands of dollars. In the trial he was acquitted, but much of it has been recovered. But various states had spent a fortune trying to catch and convict him. He is under death sentence now—and his admirers send roses to his cell.

DEAD TREASURER'S BOOKS SHORT

Famous Iowa Author Is Dead

HERBERT QUICK SUFFERS FATAL HEART ATTACK

Won Fame For Novel 'Vandemark's Folly,' Former Mayor Of Sioux City.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11.—(AP)—Herbert Quick, 64, of Berkeley Springs, W. Va. author and editor, died at the University of Missouri hospital here yesterday of heart disease.

Mr. Quick arrived here last Friday and became ill in the afternoon. He insisted, however, against the advice of physicians, on delivering a scheduled address at the dinner which closed the Journalism week Saturday.

He was taken to the hospital after a heart attack during the evening. Born on a farm in Iowa in 1861 and with limited educational opportunities in early life, Mr. Quick became an author, lawyer, politician, editor and economist of note.

Under the Wilson administration he was a member of the federal farm loan board and early in his career served as mayor of Sioux City, after making his mark as a lawyer in representing a citizens reform committee which attacked corrupt municipal officials of Sioux City.

He was admitted to the bar after studying in a law office while principal of a ward school in Mason City. In 1902 he was defeated as a candidate for the Iowa supreme court.

Among his best known novels were "The Fairland of America," "Aladdin and Company" in which he dealt with Iowa politics and business conditions, and "Double Trouble," a novel of the law in 1909 and became associate editor of La Follette's magazine, a short time later taking up the editorship of Farm and Fireside at Springfield, O.

Among his best known novels were "Vandemark's Folly" and "The Hawkseye," both dealing with early-day life in Iowa.

TAUGHT AT MASON CITY. News of the death of Herbert Quick recalled to scores of middle-aged men and women here today the days when the famous author was principal of the graded school in the city. "The best teacher I ever had," was the appraisal of him made this morning by Charles Mullan, a veteran printer.

At the local funeral home, Mrs. Catherine McMillan and Mrs. Helen Dillon are awaiting word from Columbia, Mo., concerning the funeral arrangements. Plans will be laid after the widow reaches here today. Burial will be either here or in Syracuse, N. Y., where all the relatives of Mrs. Quick have been buried, the sisters here believe.

Although regarded as uncommonly young and able as an educator, it was not until after he left here in 1890 that his genius reached its full bloom. It was while here that Mr. Quick learned his law and he began practice at Sioux City on leaving Mason City.

Ex-Banker Will Be Tried At Sac City On Forgery Charge

SAC CITY, May 11.—(INS)—At the term of court opening here today interest was focused on the approaching trial of C. L. Voss, former cashier of the defunct bank of Denison, who is charged with forgery.

The date of Voss' trial will probably be decided on Tuesday. Judge T. L. McCord will preside at the trial. Voss was charged with forging the names of Ira C. Gilmore and Isabel Gilmore on an agreement for the extension of a $25,000 loan from the Prudential Life Insurance company two years ago. The Gilmore Des Moines Joint Stock Land bank, a portion of which it was understood, was to pay off the Prudential loan. Instead of paying off the Prudential loan, Voss is alleged to have appropriated the Gilmore's money and forged the extension of the loan. The Gilmore knew nothing of it until last summer.

U. S. BATTLE FLEET ANCHORS OFF MAUI

Mightiest Ships Of The Navy Ready To Resume War Maneuvers In The Southern Pacific.

LA HAINA, Island of Maui, May 11.—(INS)—The great United States fleet of more than 130 vessels was anchored in La Haina today. For nine miles along the island ride the mightiest ships of the American navy, waiting to engage in two weeks' maneuvers before returning to Honolulu, from which port a portion of the fleet will proceed to Australia.

Battles into the open sea for tactical exercises will be engaged in from now until the end of the month. The vessels are anchored close together in the depth of the water permits this, and the sight is far more magnificent than when the fleet was off San Diego, San Francisco and Honolulu. Towering mountains, their bases covered with green fields of cane, throw their shadows over the dreadnaughts.

Possession of La Haina, a small town filled with hospitality, has been given the American sailors, following formal welcoming ceremonies, in which the ranking admirals of the fleet received and "bumped" the ships. The fleet will be anchored on board the U. S. S. Seattle, flagship of Rear Admiral Countz, commander-in-chief of the fleet.

As the first party from the fleet went ashore, school children lined both sides of the dock strumming ukuleles and singing Hawaiian melodies. Others spread a path of gorgeous flowers, and the fleet officers of the fleet and all the Americans were presented with beautiful leis of roses.

Later 350 officers were entertained at a dancing party.

BREAK UP BOAT TO FREE BODIES OF 23 VICTIMS

Rescuers Still Work On Wreck Of Vessel Which Sank In The Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 11.—(AP)—Using a large anchor attached to a fifty-foot chain as a hammer, United States engineers today will break the framework of the cabin of the sunken steamer M. E. Norman in the hope of releasing bodies of some of the twenty-three persons who were drowned when the vessel was turned over and sank last Friday.

Stationed at intervals down the river, crews of government boats will watch for the bodies which the engineers are confident will be released.

The cabin was definitely found last night after the workers had broken up other parts of the steamer.

Attempts to reach the hull of the vessel with expert divers failed because of the strong undercurrent which swept the divers far down stream when they attempted to descend.

To raise the hull of the steamer with chains, engineers decided would require several days, they determined on the plan of breaking up the superstructure of the Norman as the most practicable method of reaching the victims.

Feeling that some of the bodies might be swept down stream, those in charge have ordered the search of the river as far down as Helena, Mo.

With the "smokestacks" pointing towards the river, the vessel was broken up in breaking up the superstructure of the vessel, was scored when the aft flag pole of the Norman shot up through 50 feet of water with the American flag flying.

The ship's clock was brought up, its hands showing that it had stopped at 4:50 o'clock which hour on Friday afternoon engineers now accept as the exact time the steamer sank.

Girl Scolded After "Date" Ends Life

BY LONG DISTANCE PHONE. ANAMOSA, May 11.—Loretta Weaver, 17-year-old high school student, was scolded by her mother after a "date" with a neighbor's youth named "Boss," with whom she had been forbidden to go.

The girl arose at 6 o'clock and, unseen, went to the barn where she obtained a bottle of carbolic acid which had been used by her father in the treatment of stock on the Weaver farm, situated five miles north of here.

She then told her mother that she would be no more trouble over her friendship with Moss, but her mother did not suspect the impending tragedy. A short time later, the girl was found in her bedroom with a knife in her throat.

She died an hour later as physicians began an attempt to save her. Mrs. Weaver reported to be in a hysterical condition as a result of the scolding which she gave her daughter at midnight when the couple returned home, would have been a depressing effect. Previous efforts made by the parents to sever the friendship of Moss and the girl had failed, it is said.

Mr. Weaver, who had not announced this morning whether or not there would be an inquest.

LOCAL FORGER BROUGHT BACK FROM MISSOURI

Frank Daly Arrested At Kansas City For Passing A Bad Check Here.

(CEDAR RAPIDS NEWS.) Frank W. Daly, 38, of Kansas City, Mo., a former convict, was brought back from that city last night by Police Chief Benesh and County Attorney Bangorover to answer a charge of forging a $40 check.

Daly, arrested by the district court here May 6, following the filing by the county attorney of a true information, was arrested Saturday by Detectives R. B. Higley and E. L. Nelson of the Kansas City force after the local officials arrived there.

The check was written on the Niles and Walters bank of Anamosa, about a month ago, made payable to Daly and cashed at the Cedar Rapids National bank, according to the police.

Daly had admitted forging the signature of Sherman L. Olson, proprietor of the Anamosa bakery, according to Chief Benesh. Daily declared he came to Cedar Rapids and stayed a day or two, long enough to get a local woman to endorse the check under the belief that it was bona fide. Then went on to his home at 321 Holmes, street, Cedar Rapids, where he was spotted soon after the information was filed against him here.

On the way to Kansas City, Chief Benesh and County Attorney Bangorover, stopped at Des Moines and obtained the necessary requisition, papers from Gov. Hamilton. Daly was going to reside temporarily at first, but later changed his mind and came along with the police.

From Anamosa, just a few months ago, Daly went to work in the local place, but soon after leaving the reformatory.

Detective Higley, one of the men who arrested Daly, is the man who recently shot down an outlaw after the latter had played. Higley's partner when the two had the gunman cornered.

Daly will be arraigned in district court, the chief said, and he indicated that he will plead guilty.

Sofia Assassins Plead Guilty, Few Beg For Leniency

VIENNA, May 11.—(AP)—Dispatches from Sofia say that all the principals charged with responsibility for the recent bombing of the Sveti Kral cathedral in which 160 persons were killed, pleaded guilty with the exception of one defendant named Koeff.

The court had deferred judgment, after the pleas of guilty were made. Marco Friedmann, alleged leader of the conspiracy asked that he be shot in the event the death penalty is imposed. Zadzorsky, "secretary" of the cathedral, charged with having assisted in the bombing, begged that he be imprisoned, not killed, so that he might atone his misdeeds by prayer and penitence. The other defendants pled for leniency.

NEW RED PARTY

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 11.—(AP)—After the recent bomb outrage in the cathedral, a "Moderate communist" was formed under the leadership of Dr. Sakaroff. It has declared itself to be opposed to all illegal fighting methods and to the policy of terror and bloodshed, and to all the moderate parties.

16,000 Police On Guard At Berlin As Hindenburg Arrives

BERLIN, May 11.—(INS)—President-elect Paul von Hindenburg arrived late today in Berlin. A capital city with flags and teeming with cheering thousands welcomed him.

Sixteen thousand police, the largest number mobilized since the revolution, guarded against disorders. Chancellor Luther, who will continue in office, General Von Seeckt, the lord mayor of Berlin, and other dignitaries were at the Hertzog station to greet the president-elect. The station was thronged and a daughter held a great bouquet to present to the new president.

Thousands milled around the railroad station as Hindenburg departed. The station was decked with flags and enthusiasm was at a high pitch. Herr Noske, socialist president of the Province of Hannover, delivered a short address in which he wished the president-elect of Germany success in his forthcoming regime.

Hindenburg was visibly moved. As he stepped on to the train to take him to Berlin he turned, waved repeatedly, lifted his hat to the cheering crowds.

As the train pulled out he shouted: "Auf Wiedersehen!"

Darrow To Oppose Dr. Fosberg Story In Shepherd Trial

CHICAGO, May 11.—(INS)—The defense's efforts to free William D. Shepherd from the charge of murder in his connection with the almost entirely on the credit of state's witnesses.

This became known here today with the date for trial exactly one week distant, and among those who will lend their aid in attacking the state testimony, it has been revealed, will be Clarence Darrow, wily criminal attorney who has cheated the gallows of 103 candidates.

Fosberg already has declared that Shepherd, on numerous occasions interviewed him regarding germs, poisons and the administration of various death-dealing poisons and he will be called to testify to this effect at the trial.

In an effort to establish Darrow as an "expert" witness, Darrow will take the stand to "repeat" his testimony that, during the Leopold-Loeb trial, Fosberg came to his office and offered to "testify" that Richard Loeb was insane.

Fosberg, Darrow says, told him he had frequently treated young Loeb and knew him to be mentally deranged. Loeb and members of his family afterward denied he "knew" Fosberg or had ever been examined by him, Darrow says.

The defense will center its attack on Charles C. Fauman, co-defendant of Shepherd, whose confession that he gave Shepherd germs to inoculate Billy McNicklock was largely responsible for the return of the murder indictment.

Witnesses who will attempt to prove Fauman a "diplomatic" physician and owner of an oculicentric school, will be called as well as many imported from Minneapolis where Fauman formerly lived.

SELF-HELP IS BEST CURE-ALL: HOOVER

Secretary Tells Country To Quit Appeals To Federal Government, In Address At Ad Club Session.

HOUSTON, Texas, May 11.—(INS)—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover today told the country to quit looking toward Washington for cures for all its ills.

"We are confronted with the daily demand to extend government in order to cure some abuse or other," Hoover said, addressing the Houston chamber of commerce.

"The federal government is a poor cure for abuse for it at once becomes a restraint of liberty, and it is not a cure for the abuse without bringing about some instance of oppression."

"If we can decentralize thought on state and municipal government to the growth of the federal encroachment," he continued.

In Hoover's opinion, the test of the whole economic system is the capacity to cure its own abuses. He held that if the country is to be wholly dependent on government to cure wrongs, "we shall have by the very method created a social system of bureaucracy and the clumsy and incapable handling of delicate moral and economic forces."

Hoover showed that advertising is playing a fundamental part in the American economic system and that through this medium, living standards have been raised.

"The impulse of advertising is the impetus of mass production," he said. "The impulse of advertising has added to the distribution of news, information, good cheer and obviously material to our nation. Obviously without it, not for the vast extension of national advertising, we should never have the fine development of our periodical magazines and were it not for the growth of the local newspaper advertising our publishers would not be able to produce the great journals which are of such incalculable value."

CHECKERS FIND IRREGULARITIES IN WAPELLO CO.

No Record Kept Since Bad Book Was Destroyed Says Auditor.

DES MOINES, May 11.—(AP)—State Auditor McClure announced today that his checkers had found "gross irregularities" in the office of the Wapello county treasurer. The checkers were called in, Mr. McClure said, to check the books following the death recently of County Treasurer C. E. Warren.

The report of the checkers revealed, the auditor said, that no books had been kept since January 1 and that "thousands of dollars" in checks were found in the county office at Ottumwa for which receipts never had been issued.

The auditor said he was unprepared to say whether there was criminal irregularity or if the unusual condition was due to negligence in bookkeeping.

"I doubt if a more deplorable situation ever has been brought to the attention of this office," Mr. McClure said.

New Treasurer Refuses to Act. County Treasurer Manning, appointed by the board of supervisors a few days ago, has refused to assume responsibility, the auditor said. He had been advised, until the alleged irregularities were cleared up, that on the death of the treasurer, the affairs of the treasurer's office were turned over to the county auditor. The latter, however, the auditor report said, "informed him that he was not to assume the duties of the office, but that he was to be virtually a clerk, and that he was not to be responsible for the books."

Checks signed by taxpayers, without any amount written in, presumably left for the treasurer to fill in when the tax assessment was made. The checkers have found no record of receipts having been given or the tax payment entered on the books.
