

MARSHALLTOWN GETS NEXT C. E. SESSION

Old Officers Re-installed At Closing Service Of The State Meeting Here;
Prizes Are Given.

Marshalltown was named as the 1926 meeting place of the Iowa Christian Endeavor union, at the closing session of its four-day convention, at First Christian church here last night.

An address by the Rev. Mel Trotter, gospel mission worker of Grand Rapids, Mich., on "The Valley of Service," following which more than one hundred young folk made the decision for a Christian life.

More than $2,000 was pledged by the young people during the four-day session, to carry on Christian Endeavor work in the state.

Sunday's Program.
Sunday's program opened with a sunrise service at Ellis Park led by the Rev. Howard W. Cope of Marshalltown, state president. Breakfast was served by the Cedar Rapids union.

Sessions were suspended during the morning and renewed at 2 p.m. Dr. D. A. Gantfield, president of Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., presided. The Rev. Tom Fiedt, president of the Cedar Rapids union, presided at the evening session.

The evening meeting opened with a song service led by Homer Hammon, Chicago gospel song leader with Otto Hermanson at the piano. The Rev. Blaine Hyten, pastor of the First Christian church, led the devotional service. The Rev. Tom Fiedt, president of the Cedar Rapids union, presided.

Before Mr. Trotter's address there was an installation service. All old officers re-elected last Saturday were installed.

More than 400 young folk attended the fellowship banquet served Saturday evening in the church dining room by women of the Cedar Rapids union. Songs, yells, fun and fellowship typified the program, and each organization vied with its neighbor.

Dr. Fiedt, president of the Cedar Rapids union, presided at the evening session. The Rev. Tom Fiedt, president of the Cedar Rapids union, presided at the evening session. The Rev. Tom Fiedt, president of the Cedar Rapids union, presided at the evening session.

The cup for the best float in the parade, presented by the Killian company, was won by the Second Christian church of this city with a car in red and white, the E. colors.

The first Christian church of this city and the Presbyterian church of Dubuque won honorable mention.

The third cup, awarded by the Armstrong company, was given to the First Presbyterian society of Cedar Falls, for the largest delegation outside Linn county, with thirty-nine in line. They also won a shield presented for the largest "delegation" of the city.

Immanuel Evangelical church won $10 in cash given by the society for the largest number in the parade from Linn county.

The parade judges were L. O. McMeekin of Omaha, president of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Pacific, here to route the delegates to Portland; the Rev. B. W. Siderman of Collins, and M. H. Luther of the Killian company.

Miss Pearl Whaley of Marshalltown, won a C. E. pin for the largest number of missionary points.

Resolutions were offered at the final session, expressing thanks to local newspapers and to those who assisted in making the convention a success.

U. S. To Sell At Auction Last Of
Ship Board Houses

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(U.S.)—Sale at auction on June 30 and July 1 of shipping board housing properties at Portsmouth N. H. will dispose of the last of the more than 8,000 structures of the same type owned by the board at the peak of the war-time ship building drive.

Chairman O'Connor announced yesterday these structures included dwellings, apartment houses, dormitories, hotel cafeterias, garages, and totaled $322 at the war peak. The Portsmouth properties, known as Atlantic Heights, comprises 278 dwellings, one store building, nine cafeterias, one cafeteria, and twenty garages.

These Folk Believe In Accident
Insurance, Buy Gazette Policies

The above pictures are of Maj. S. C. Viles, commissioner of public safety, and Miss Emma Fordyce, oldest school teacher in the Cedar Rapids public schools in years of service. They are two of the many readers of The Evening Gazette who have received their $7,500 accident insurance policies for $1 and here's what they have to say about it:

Maj. Viles says:—In view of the great increase in automobile traffic especially at this time of the year, travel accident insurance is most important. Everyone should have the protection such insurance affords. I believe The Evening Gazette is offering its subscribers a wonderful opportunity in this policy.

Miss Fordyce says:—I am leaving today for an extended trip through the west, and am taking my Evening Gazette accident insurance policy for $7,500 with me. Like everyone else, I do not anticipate an accident, but I know of no better investment than the dollar I spent for this policy. My age is 70. I never publish the but I am the senior pedagogus in the Cedar Rapids schools.

Accidents Over
Week-End Hurts
4, None Seriously

Four persons were injured in accidents yesterday and Saturday night, none seriously, it is said. Herbert Rittner, of Monticello, rooming at 114 North Eighth street, suffered a cut in his face and several back lacerations when he was riding on a motorcycle which he was riding on a street.

Frank Bell, son of Joe Bell of Cheyenne, will be here to aid in the officiating, and probably to enter some of the events himself. The father is a former resident of Des Moines. The Bells are relatives of the Dan and William Dempseys of Cedar Rapids, and Frank Bell will arrive a week in advance of the roundup to visit them.

Horace Hedges of Cedar Rapids, will be chairman of the group of timers who will be selected to check contestants in various events in which victory depends on the rapidly which a stunt such as steering, spinning, or bulldozing is executed.

The judge in charge of all track events is to be Frank H. Haddell of Rawlins, Wyo., where he is warden of the state penitentiary. He is one of the leading stockmen of Wyoming and is well known throughout the west, and is a crack bowler. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt, and it was with Haddell that Mr. Roosevelt took his overland trip on horseback.

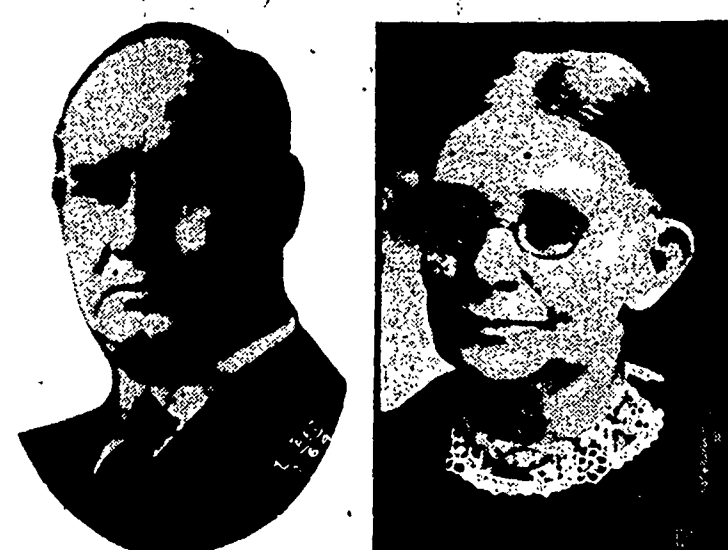

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Haddell lived at Traer, Ia., where he was intimately acquainted with "Tama Jim" Wilson, one-time secretary of agriculture. It was through Wilson that Haddell became acquainted with President Roosevelt, who later gave several federal appointments to the former Iowan.

Mike Shaughnessy of Clarks, Neb., will be one of the three judges of the cowboy and cowgirl contest. Clayton Danks of Dodge, Wyo., will be another, and Eddie McCarthy of Chugwater, Wyo., the third. Each of these men is well known to all the leading contestants in the west, and Mr. Irwin was assured that the list of judges would be approved by the cowboys if it was okayed by the Cedar Rapids men.

Shaughnessy is a former partner of "B. Hound" James, cattle feeder in the world, and is one of the few genuine survivors of the famous Johnson county "hole in the wall" cattle country of Oklahoma. He has been a judge at the Cheyenne contests and elsewhere for a number of years, and his work is said to be fast, competent and satisfactory to both contestants and spectators.

Danks is Noted Rider.
Danks is manager for the Reverend C. C. Cattle company, at Boggs, where this concern has one of the largest cattle ranches in the country. Danks has been four times the champion rough rider of the world. He is one of only three cowboys who succeeded in riding the famous "Steakhouse" one of the greatest bucking horses the west ever has known. In his day Danks was an all-around contestant, and is known to cowmen everywhere as a "square shooter." McCarthy is owner of the S-Lazy-S cattle ranch near Chugwater. He, too, is an old contestant. He won the world's championship as a bucking horse rider at Cheyenne in 1920. He is best known as the man who conquered "Dunngone," a wild bucking horse who refused to be ridden by anyone until McCarthy mounted him. At one show $2,315.30 was taken up in collection for the man who could ride "Dunngone" in a Colorado roundup. The longest that

These Folk Believe In Accident Insurance, Buy Gazette Policies

The above pictures are of Maj. S. C. Viles, commissioner of public safety, and Miss Emma Fordyce, oldest school teacher in the Cedar Rapids public schools in years of service. They are two of the many readers of The Evening Gazette who have received their $7,500 accident insurance policies for $1 and here's what they have to say about it:

Maj. Viles says:—In view of the great increase in automobile traffic especially at this time of the year, travel accident insurance is most important. Everyone should have the protection such insurance affords. I believe The Evening Gazette is offering its subscribers a wonderful opportunity in this policy.

Miss Fordyce says:—I am leaving today for an extended trip through the west, and am taking my Evening Gazette accident insurance policy for $7,500 with me. Like everyone else, I do not anticipate an accident, but I know of no better investment than the dollar I spent for this policy. My age is 70. I never publish the but I am the senior pedagogus in the Cedar Rapids schools.

TO GIVE NIGHT SHOWS DURING
FRONTIER DAYS

(Continued From Page One.)
grants and their families, but will fall—and then will appear on the scene a troop of United States cavalry. The soldiers will save the train. The cavalry will be brought here from Fort Des Moines, and will be accompanied by a mounted United States army band.

Judges Chosen.
One of the important details handled yesterday by the directors was the selection of the judges who will handle the contests at the afternoon shows. Cowboys and cowgirls who enter these events always insist on knowing the identity of the judges well in advance, and unless they are satisfied they will not participate. In this case Mr. Irwin had a tentative list approved by both the Cedar Rapids Amusement association and a number of the leading contestants. Yesterday the list was scanned for final approval and the selection of three outstanding judges.

The judge in charge of all track events is to be Frank H. Haddell of Rawlins, Wyo., where he is warden of the state penitentiary. He is one of the leading stockmen of Wyoming and is well known throughout the west, and is a crack bowler. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt, and it was with Haddell that Mr. Roosevelt took his overland trip on horseback.

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Haddell lived at Traer, Ia., where he was intimately acquainted with "Tama Jim" Wilson, one-time secretary of agriculture. It was through Wilson that Haddell became acquainted with President Roosevelt, who later gave several federal appointments to the former Iowan.

Mike Shaughnessy of Clarks, Neb., will be one of the three judges of the cowboy and cowgirl contest. Clayton Danks of Dodge, Wyo., will be another, and Eddie McCarthy of Chugwater, Wyo., the third. Each of these men is well known to all the leading contestants in the west, and Mr. Irwin was assured that the list of judges would be approved by the cowboys if it was okayed by the Cedar Rapids men.

Shaughnessy is a former partner of "B. Hound" James, cattle feeder in the world, and is one of the few genuine survivors of the famous Johnson county "hole in the wall" cattle country of Oklahoma. He has been a judge at the Cheyenne contests and elsewhere for a number of years, and his work is said to be fast, competent and satisfactory to both contestants and spectators.

Danks is Noted Rider.
Danks is manager for the Reverend C. C. Cattle company, at Boggs, where this concern has one of the largest cattle ranches in the country. Danks has been four times the champion rough rider of the world. He is one of only three cowboys who succeeded in riding the famous "Steakhouse" one of the greatest bucking horses the west ever has known. In his day Danks was an all-around contestant, and is known to cowmen everywhere as a "square shooter." McCarthy is owner of the S-Lazy-S cattle ranch near Chugwater. He, too, is an old contestant. He won the world's championship as a bucking horse rider at Cheyenne in 1920. He is best known as the man who conquered "Dunngone," a wild bucking horse who refused to be ridden by anyone until McCarthy mounted him. At one show $2,315.30 was taken up in collection for the man who could ride "Dunngone" in a Colorado roundup. The longest that

U. S. To Sell At Auction Last Of
Ship Board Houses

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(U.S.)—Sale at auction on June 30 and July 1 of shipping board housing properties at Portsmouth N. H. will dispose of the last of the more than 8,000 structures of the same type owned by the board at the peak of the war-time ship building drive.

Chairman O'Connor announced yesterday these structures included dwellings, apartment houses, dormitories, hotel cafeterias, garages, and totaled $322 at the war peak. The Portsmouth properties, known as Atlantic Heights, comprises 278 dwellings, one store building, nine cafeterias, one cafeteria, and twenty garages.

These Folk Believe In Accident
Insurance, Buy Gazette Policies

The above pictures are of Maj. S. C. Viles, commissioner of public safety, and Miss Emma Fordyce, oldest school teacher in the Cedar Rapids public schools in years of service. They are two of the many readers of The Evening Gazette who have received their $7,500 accident insurance policies for $1 and here's what they have to say about it:

Maj. Viles says:—In view of the great increase in automobile traffic especially at this time of the year, travel accident insurance is most important. Everyone should have the protection such insurance affords. I believe The Evening Gazette is offering its subscribers a wonderful opportunity in this policy.

Miss Fordyce says:—I am leaving today for an extended trip through the west, and am taking my Evening Gazette accident insurance policy for $7,500 with me. Like everyone else, I do not anticipate an accident, but I know of no better investment than the dollar I spent for this policy. My age is 70. I never publish the but I am the senior pedagogus in the Cedar Rapids schools.

Accidents Over
Week-End Hurts
4, None Seriously

Four persons were injured in accidents yesterday and Saturday night, none seriously, it is said. Herbert Rittner, of Monticello, rooming at 114 North Eighth street, suffered a cut in his face and several back lacerations when he was riding on a motorcycle which he was riding on a street.

Frank Bell, son of Joe Bell of Cheyenne, will be here to aid in the officiating, and probably to enter some of the events himself. The father is a former resident of Des Moines. The Bells are relatives of the Dan and William Dempseys of Cedar Rapids, and Frank Bell will arrive a week in advance of the roundup to visit them.

Horace Hedges of Cedar Rapids, will be chairman of the group of timers who will be selected to check contestants in various events in which victory depends on the rapidly which a stunt such as steering, spinning, or bulldozing is executed.

The judge in charge of all track events is to be Frank H. Haddell of Rawlins, Wyo., where he is warden of the state penitentiary. He is one of the leading stockmen of Wyoming and is well known throughout the west, and is a crack bowler. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt, and it was with Haddell that Mr. Roosevelt took his overland trip on horseback.

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Haddell lived at Traer, Ia., where he was intimately acquainted with "Tama Jim" Wilson, one-time secretary of agriculture. It was through Wilson that Haddell became acquainted with President Roosevelt, who later gave several federal appointments to the former Iowan.

Mike Shaughnessy of Clarks, Neb., will be one of the three judges of the cowboy and cowgirl contest. Clayton Danks of Dodge, Wyo., will be another, and Eddie McCarthy of Chugwater, Wyo., the third. Each of these men is well known to all the leading contestants in the west, and Mr. Irwin was assured that the list of judges would be approved by the cowboys if it was okayed by the Cedar Rapids men.

Shaughnessy is a former partner of "B. Hound" James, cattle feeder in the world, and is one of the few genuine survivors of the famous Johnson county "hole in the wall" cattle country of Oklahoma. He has been a judge at the Cheyenne contests and elsewhere for a number of years, and his work is said to be fast, competent and satisfactory to both contestants and spectators.

Danks is Noted Rider.
Danks is manager for the Reverend C. C. Cattle company, at Boggs, where this concern has one of the largest cattle ranches in the country. Danks has been four times the champion rough rider of the world. He is one of only three cowboys who succeeded in riding the famous "Steakhouse" one of the greatest bucking horses the west ever has known. In his day Danks was an all-around contestant, and is known to cowmen everywhere as a "square shooter." McCarthy is owner of the S-Lazy-S cattle ranch near Chugwater. He, too, is an old contestant. He won the world's championship as a bucking horse rider at Cheyenne in 1920. He is best known as the man who conquered "Dunngone," a wild bucking horse who refused to be ridden by anyone until McCarthy mounted him. At one show $2,315.30 was taken up in collection for the man who could ride "Dunngone" in a Colorado roundup. The longest that

COUNCIL GRANTS CIGARET LICENSES

A petition from Frank Pusateri for permission to erect a store building at 1101 First avenue, move the residence there back to the alley and also move the garage on the place, raised the old question of the possible zoning ordinance in today's council session.

Mr. Pusateri was informed that the zoning ordinance would be in effect by June 15 and prepared his plan accordingly. It was said, but that date has come and gone without the ordinance. Rather than act on what may be done in the future, the council decided to go by the existing ordinance and put the petition through the regular course, subject to protest that may be made. It was filed for one week.

More than forty resolutions granting local dealers permission to sell cigarettes went through the council meeting. There are sixteen dealers in the city, and the licenses have to be passed at this month, the licenses of the other firms selling the "cotton" holding over another year. Licenses must be renewed every two years, the annual fee being $100. The cigarette license provides the greatest source of income to the city outside of taxes.

Quit claim deeds given by the city and the Cedar Rapids company, carrying over the river front line at the company's property, have been recorded and were made a part of today's minutes.

At the conclusion of the regular meeting the councilmen signed the assessment rolls of the year.

Accidents Over Week-End Hurts 4, None Seriously

Four persons were injured in accidents yesterday and Saturday night, none seriously, it is said. Herbert Rittner, of Monticello, rooming at 114 North Eighth street, suffered a cut in his face and several back lacerations when he was riding on a motorcycle which he was riding on a street.

Frank Bell, son of Joe Bell of Cheyenne, will be here to aid in the officiating, and probably to enter some of the events himself. The father is a former resident of Des Moines. The Bells are relatives of the Dan and William Dempseys of Cedar Rapids, and Frank Bell will arrive a week in advance of the roundup to visit them.

Horace Hedges of Cedar Rapids, will be chairman of the group of timers who will be selected to check contestants in various events in which victory depends on the rapidly which a stunt such as steering, spinning, or bulldozing is executed.

The judge in charge of all track events is to be Frank H. Haddell of Rawlins, Wyo., where he is warden of the state penitentiary. He is one of the leading stockmen of Wyoming and is well known throughout the west, and is a crack bowler. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt, and it was with Haddell that Mr. Roosevelt took his overland trip on horseback.

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Haddell lived at Traer, Ia., where he was intimately acquainted with "Tama Jim" Wilson, one-time secretary of agriculture. It was through Wilson that Haddell became acquainted with President Roosevelt, who later gave several federal appointments to the former Iowan.

Mike Shaughnessy of Clarks, Neb., will be one of the three judges of the cowboy and cowgirl contest. Clayton Danks of Dodge, Wyo., will be another, and Eddie McCarthy of Chugwater, Wyo., the third. Each of these men is well known to all the leading contestants in the west, and Mr. Irwin was assured that the list of judges would be approved by the cowboys if it was okayed by the Cedar Rapids men.

Shaughnessy is a former partner of "B. Hound" James, cattle feeder in the world, and is one of the few genuine survivors of the famous Johnson county "hole in the wall" cattle country of Oklahoma. He has been a judge at the Cheyenne contests and elsewhere for a number of years, and his work is said to be fast, competent and satisfactory to both contestants and spectators.

Danks is Noted Rider.
Danks is manager for the Reverend C. C. Cattle company, at Boggs, where this concern has one of the largest cattle ranches in the country. Danks has been four times the champion rough rider of the world. He is one of only three cowboys who succeeded in riding the famous "Steakhouse" one of the greatest bucking horses the west ever has known. In his day Danks was an all-around contestant, and is known to cowmen everywhere as a "square shooter." McCarthy is owner of the S-Lazy-S cattle ranch near Chugwater. He, too, is an old contestant. He won the world's championship as a bucking horse rider at Cheyenne in 1920. He is best known as the man who conquered "Dunngone," a wild bucking horse who refused to be ridden by anyone until McCarthy mounted him. At one show $2,315.30 was taken up in collection for the man who could ride "Dunngone" in a Colorado roundup. The longest that

U. S. To Sell At Auction Last Of
Ship Board Houses

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(U.S.)—Sale at auction on June 30 and July 1 of shipping board housing properties at Portsmouth N. H. will dispose of the last of the more than 8,000 structures of the same type owned by the board at the peak of the war-time ship building drive.

Chairman O'Connor announced yesterday these structures included dwellings, apartment houses, dormitories, hotel cafeterias, garages, and totaled $322 at the war peak. The Portsmouth properties, known as Atlantic Heights, comprises 278 dwellings, one store building, nine cafeterias, one cafeteria, and twenty garages.

These Folk Believe In Accident
Insurance, Buy Gazette Policies

The above pictures are of Maj. S. C. Viles, commissioner of public safety, and Miss Emma Fordyce, oldest school teacher in the Cedar Rapids public schools in years of service. They are two of the many readers of The Evening Gazette who have received their $7,500 accident insurance policies for $1 and here's what they have to say about it:

Maj. Viles says:—In view of the great increase in automobile traffic especially at this time of the year, travel accident insurance is most important. Everyone should have the protection such insurance affords. I believe The Evening Gazette is offering its subscribers a wonderful opportunity in this policy.

Miss Fordyce says:—I am leaving today for an extended trip through the west, and am taking my Evening Gazette accident insurance policy for $7,500 with me. Like everyone else, I do not anticipate an accident, but I know of no better investment than the dollar I spent for this policy. My age is 70. I never publish the but I am the senior pedagogus in the Cedar Rapids schools.

Accidents Over
Week-End Hurts
4, None Seriously

Four persons were injured in accidents yesterday and Saturday night, none seriously, it is said. Herbert Rittner, of Monticello, rooming at 114 North Eighth street, suffered a cut in his face and several back lacerations when he was riding on a motorcycle which he was riding on a street.

Frank Bell, son of Joe Bell of Cheyenne, will be here to aid in the officiating, and probably to enter some of the events himself. The father is a former resident of Des Moines. The Bells are relatives of the Dan and William Dempseys of Cedar Rapids, and Frank Bell will arrive a week in advance of the roundup to visit them.

Horace Hedges of Cedar Rapids, will be chairman of the group of timers who will be selected to check contestants in various events in which victory depends on the rapidly which a stunt such as steering, spinning, or bulldozing is executed.

The judge in charge of all track events is to be Frank H. Haddell of Rawlins, Wyo., where he is warden of the state penitentiary. He is one of the leading stockmen of Wyoming and is well known throughout the west, and is a crack bowler. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt, and it was with Haddell that Mr. Roosevelt took his overland trip on horseback.

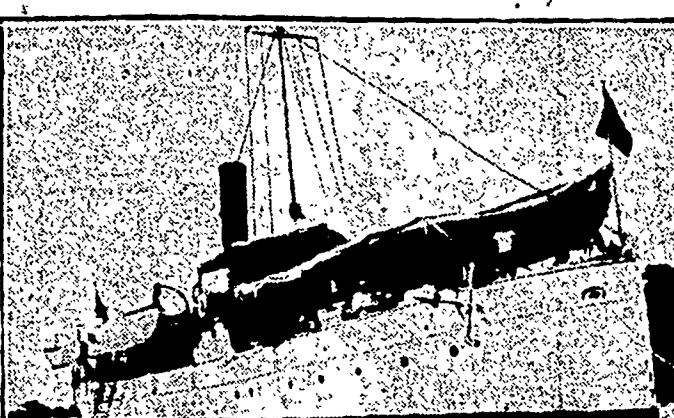

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Haddell lived at Traer, Ia., where he was intimately acquainted with "Tama Jim" Wilson, one-time secretary of agriculture. It was through Wilson that Haddell became acquainted with President Roosevelt, who later gave several federal appointments to the former Iowan.

Mike Shaughnessy of Clarks, Neb., will be one of the three judges of the cowboy and cowgirl contest. Clayton Danks of Dodge, Wyo., will be another, and Eddie McCarthy of Chugwater, Wyo., the third. Each of these men is well known to all the leading contestants in the west, and Mr. Irwin was assured that the list of judges would be approved by the cowboys if it was okayed by the Cedar Rapids men.

Shaughnessy is a former partner of "B. Hound" James, cattle feeder in the world, and is one of the few genuine survivors of the famous Johnson county "hole in the wall" cattle country of Oklahoma. He has been a judge at the Cheyenne contests and elsewhere for a number of years, and his work is said to be fast, competent and satisfactory to both contestants and spectators.

Danks is Noted Rider.
Danks is manager for the Reverend C. C. Cattle company, at Boggs, where this concern has one of the largest cattle ranches in the country. Danks has been four times the champion rough rider of the world. He is one of only three cowboys who succeeded in riding the famous "Steakhouse" one of the greatest bucking horses the west ever has known. In his day Danks was an all-around contestant, and is known to cowmen everywhere as a "square shooter." McCarthy is owner of the S-Lazy-S cattle ranch near Chugwater. He, too, is an old contestant. He won the world's championship as a bucking horse rider at Cheyenne in 1920. He is best known as the man who conquered "Dunngone," a wild bucking horse who refused to be ridden by anyone until McCarthy mounted him. At one show $2,315.30 was taken up in collection for the man who could ride "Dunngone" in a Colorado roundup. The longest that

U. S. Gunboat Fired On In China

CANTON, China.—After Chinese forces, fighting for Canton, fired on the American gunboat Pampana (pictured above), engaged in conveying supplies between Canton and Honan island, the Pampana returned fire with 3-pounders. The gunboat has been part of the navy's police force since Admiral Dewey whipped the Spanish in Manila bay, and now is part of the American river flotilla in Chinese waters.

CANTON, China.—After Chinese forces, fighting for Canton, fired on the American gunboat Pampana (pictured above), engaged in conveying supplies between Canton and Honan island, the Pampana returned fire with 3-pounders. The gunboat has been part of the navy's police force since Admiral Dewey whipped the Spanish in Manila bay, and now is part of the American river flotilla in Chinese waters.

Alien Property To Be Administered By U. S. Reserve Banks

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Sweeping changes in the administration of the office of alien property custodian, having in its jurisdiction some $346,000,000 of property belonging to former enemy aliens, goes in effect today.

Following an audit of the accounts of the office by Controller General McCall, which was ordered by President Coolidge at the request of Mr. Hicks when he assumed office two months ago, the custodian has called in from 250 banks and trust companies deposits and securities amounting to approximately $75,000,000 in value.

The money and securities will be handled by the treasury and federal reserve banks in the future. Mr. Hicks emphasized today that the audit "did not and was not expected to show anything wrong with the administration of these moneys and property by the previous custodian, Col. Thomas W. Miller."

Several complaints had been filed with various federal agencies over the manner in which some phases of the work was done. Some persons had gone to President Coolidge with what they viewed as unfair treatment.

Dorothy Perkins Gets Pen Sentence

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—From five to fifteen years confinement in Auburn prison was the sentence imposed today on Dorothy Perkins charged with killing Thomas Templeton, Jersey City war veteran, and her sister.

The girl appeared entirely composed as Judge McIntyre delivered the sentence. She later walked steadily from the court room.

"I feel sorry for you," the judge said. "I don't want to add any more anguish to what you have already suffered. But you did a heinous wrong; you have led a bad life for years, and now you must pay for it."

Although many letters have been received concerning the case, he said, not one of them suggested the girl should be let off without punishment.

Four persons narrowly escaped injury when the touring car of Robert R. Seeline, credit manager of the Killian company, overturned on the Mount Vernon paving about 5 p.m. Sunday. Riding with him were Mrs. Seeline and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mills of Oklahoma City, Okla., guests in their home.

The paving had become slippery from the rain, Mr. Seeline had turned out to pass another car when the wheels of his motor struck a spot of wet earth that had accumulated on the paving. The car skidded and turned over in the ditch. None of the occupants was injured beyond a few minor scratches. The windshield of the car was shattered and its framework was bent back over the steering wheel.

Central City Sues
To Keep Property
Out Of Town Limits

The town of Central City has filed suit in district court against John E. Dunn, J. G. Bailey, Josephine E. Bailey and Charles Burlingham, asking that the property of these persons be declared not within the town limits. The petition asserts that the town will be caused great expense in caring for it, should it continue under its jurisdiction.

The E. W. Stroebel Music house at Waterloo filed suit against Mrs. George Bonadur for $75, which it asserts she owes on a C Melody saxophone. According to the petition Mrs. Bonadur has paid $75.50 toward its purchase.

Not Worrying.
"The flat has been very cold this week. What's the weather forecast?" "What boots it? Our landlord has perfect control of that summer will arrive per schedule!"

Looks That Way.
"The ballroom floors are so crowded." "Yes, we'll have to learn to dance on our toes."

Opt Off Light.
"What happened to Toofus?" "He came in at 3 in the morning. His wife mistook him for a burglar and shot him a couple of times." "Mistook him for a burglar, eh? He was in luck."

American firms may lay some of the twenty miles of streets to be paved in Wellington, New Zealand.

Household Goods At Auction

Wednesday, June 24, 2 P. M.
1307 Second Ave.

Everything in a completely furnished nine room house will be sold by the piece to the highest cash bidder.

GENE FAGAN, Auctioneer

ON DISPLAY
IN OUR WINDOW
Is One of the Full size
Firestone
GUM-DIPPED BALLOONS

that traveled the great 500 mile International Sweepstakes at Indianapolis without a change.

These wonderful Gum-Dipped Balloons that stood this terrific grind will give you additional safety and comfort—and thousands of additional miles—on bad roads—over sharp stones, worn-out macadam and broken concrete.

SEE US TODAY. We will make you a substantial allowance for your present tires—will change over your car quickly—and bring it up to date so that you will enjoy all of these advantages this summer.

S & W AUTO SUPPLY CO.
Phone 6194. Cor. 2nd Ave. and 5th St. 24 Hour Service.

SNODGRASS IS SHY, LIKES UNSEEN CROWD

Harry Snodgrass, "the